Josh, I guess the SOS can ignore the advisory committee notes, but is just unreasonable to not say what documents you are withholding. Plus, and more to the point, you are ordered to explain per Judge Totenberg's Standing Order:

Finally, a party who objects to a discovery request but then responds to the request must indicate whether the response is complete, i.e., whether additional information or documents would have been provided but for the objection(s). For example, in response to an interrogatory, a party is not permitted to raise objections and then state, "Subject to these objections and without waiving them, the response is as follows . . ." unless the party expressly indicates whether additional information would have been included in the response but for the objection(s).

That's not what I said. It is not what you cited. You know that.

Thanks and enjoy your evening.

Which is why I directed you to the Rule. But if you want to stand on these responses and waive your objections, that's fine. It will expedite discovery and ensure we get what we need.

Thanks.

David:

The advisory committee notes are just that, but we will take your email under advisement.

Thanks,

These responses don't comply with Rule 34b2C. They include numerous objections without stating whether any responsive materials are being withheld on the basis of any objection asserted. As emphasized in the 2015 advisory committee notes to the rule, this creates improper confusion and uncertainty about what you intend to produce. Please immediately serve appropriate responses that comply with the FRCP. We reserve all rights, including asserting waiver as to any and all objections asserted.

Thanks.
